OFFICIAL REVIEW PROCESS

Author submits article

Editorial Screening

Reviewers selected by the editor, evaluate the manuscript against predefined criteria

Rejection of the article if the submission does not align with the journal's editorial objectives

Editor is provided with the recommendations of the reviewers

Author receives notification from the editor

Editor considers the reviewer's recommendations and makes final decision

Acceptance: Author receives notification from the editor that the article has been accepted

Article is rejected

Revision: Author receives notification that revisions are needed and receives reviewer's feedback

Article is accepted

Author submits revised version of the paper to the editor

Editor forwards revised paper to original reviewers