

Call for Papers

zfwu 26/1 (2024): Global Business Ethics Survey

Call for Papers until 01.06.2024

The Global Business Ethics Survey is a comprehensive study covering the fields of teaching, research and training. The results and analyses of this survey are the subject of this special issue. For Germany, Austria and Switzerland, an empirical survey of business ethics programmes within all business programmes in German-speaking countries is conducted to shed light on the aspect of business and corporate ethics teaching. In addition to interviews with experts, academic publications (especially journal publications) will also be the subject of the survey in order to examine the research aspect. In the context of the "training" aspect, a labour market survey for the field of business ethics is also planned.

Contributions are welcome that analyse and evaluate the different quantitative as well as qualitative surveys from different – also disciplinary – perspectives.

Editors of this issue are: Michael Aßländer (TU Dresden), Eckhard Burkatzki (TU Dresden), Bettina Hollstein (University of Erfurt)

Information for Authors

Please take note of the author guidelines on our website www.zfwu.nomos.de before sending in manuscripts. You will find there, besides the required formalities, a print format template, which will facilitate the technical aspect of the work. You can send your manuscripts to the editors. The editorial team is at your disposal to answer further questions.